EVERY stockholder in the sugar trust smiled a broad smile when he knew the Gorman compromise was a law yesterday.

THESE are days of explanation for the representatives who want to return as members of the next congress,

but kicked Larry Neal's tariff plank out of the house and bowed to the will of Brice, Gorman & Co.

KEEP a stiff upper lip. The Democrats in congress did all in their power to give the importers and foreign manufacturers a great advantage over

East Liverpool, but they did not count on the spirit of the people. If there is a breath of hard times, face

it, and it will not be long until prosperity comes again, brighter, better than ever before.

THAT old bark, county Democracy, long since unseaworthy and unfit for use, will meet today, answer the helm

in the hands of a few leaders, pass a lot of resolutions, name a few unfortunates for office, go home this evening, and read tomorrow that it was the greatest convention ever held in the county. "Twas ever thus, from childhood's earliest hour."

IT is not so long ago since every Democratic paper in the country was praising President Cleveland as the embodiment of honesty, a man whose courage was undaunted, a statesman who could rise above the height of partisanship. Of course all these noble qualities are embodied in a man who will write as he did to Professor

Wilson, and then quietly sit still while

"perfidy and dishonor" become a part of the nation's law. Strange, but the two incidents do not harmonize.

THE SAME OLD PLAN.

The county Democracy is meeting

GOV. WAITE ARRESTED

He Is Charged With Opening

Private Mail.

THE OLD MAN GOT FURIOUS.

He Refused to Give Bail—Said He Would

Go to Jail Instead—Finally Released on

His Own Recognizance—Other Persons

Are Implicated.

DENVER, Aug. 29.—Governor Davis

H. Waite has been arrested on the serious charge of opening and retaining a letter addressed to Mrs. Likens, formerly matron at police headquarters.

The warrant was issued by United States Commissioner Hinsdale, who also issued warrants for the arrest of President Dennis Mullins of the police board,

Hamilton Armstrong, chief of police,

and Kate Dwyer, matron at police headquarters.

The charge is opening the mail and also for conspiracy under statute numbers 3892 and 5440, the penalty for which is a fine of not over $10,000 or two years imprisonment, or both. The complaint was made by Mrs. Likens and was investigated by Postoffice Inspector McMechan.

Mr. McMechan laid the matter before United States District Attorney

Johnson, and a formal complaint was drawn up against the four persons mentioned. This was presented to Commissioner Hinsdale, and he issued the warrants which were placed in the hands of Marshal Israel's assistant for service.

Shortly afterward the warrants were served and all the parties named were arrested and taken before Commissioner

Hinsdale.

Governor Waite created quite a sensation in the commissioner's room. He was highly indignant. When Deputy

United States District Attorney Rhodes

stepped toward him, with extended hands the governor met him with a cold stare. Governor Waite pleaded "not guilty," claiming he had not opened the letter, but that its contents had been read to him.

The hearing of the case was set for tomorrow, and it was suggested that bail be fixed at $5,000. The prisoner sprang from his chair, paced the floor in front of the commissioner and exclaimed: "I am the governor of this state and these proceedings are held to interfere with me in the administration of my office. I will not give bail. You may send me to jail, but I will not give bail."

Finally the commissioner accepted

Governor Waite's personal recognizance to appear for trial in the sum of $100.

LANCASTER POSTOFFICE MULLINS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—A thorough investigation of the conduct of the Lancaster, Pa., postoffice will be commenced

by Assistant Postmaster General Jones

and Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt tomorrow. The charges were first preferred against Postmaster Melone

for the removal of carriers on partisan grounds. Counter charges were then preferred against Postmaster Melone by the dismissed employees, who alleged that he took advantage of his position

as chairman of the Democratic county committee and influenced members of the force in voting.

KILLED IN A RUNAWAY.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Aug. 29.—George

Schellhammer, a well-known citizen of Linnville, this county, was killed in a runaway. Schellhammer was descending a hill, the brake to a wagon would not hold, the horse became frightened and the wagon was upset. The man was dragged a long distance and his head crushed. The body was found along the roadside by a son. Schell-hammer was 64 years old and leaves a family.

LIKELY TO SIGN IT.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 29.—The Western window glass manufacturers will meet

BATTLE WITH ROBBERS.

Two of Them Killed and Several Citizens

Wounded.

LIMA, O., Aug. 29.—A battle has taken place at Ohio City, a little town at the junction of the Cincinnati, Jackson and Mackinaw and the Chicago and Erie roads, 35 miles from this city.

Thomas Risser, the night watchman, discovered thieves breaking into Charles

Coch's storehouse. Watchman Risser tackled the robbers single-handed and was shot twice, once in the body, while a bullet left a hole in the top of his hat and a furrow across the top of his head.

The thieves then made an effort to get out of the town, but were followed by the citizens. Confederates of the thieves were station about a quarter of a mile from the town with horses to be used in case of an emergency, but before they could reach the animals the citizens were pressing them so closely that they had to stop and defend themselves, which they did by opening fire.

There was a lively exchange of shots on both sides.

Joseph Leham, a leading business man, was fatally wounded and Attorney

Frank Lewis badly shot. The citizens were finally forced to retire, when the thieves embraced the opportunity to escape without running another risk of being captured, and with their two dead beat a hasty retreat going south from Ohio City.

Gambler Warning on a Chief.

DAYTON, O., Aug. 29.—At a star-chamber session of the board of police directors an effort was made by Mayor

C. G. McMillen, ex-officio president of the board, to have Chief of Police T. J.

Farrell suspended, pending the settlement of a series of charges which have been preferred against him by Clarence Ramby, a local cigar manufacturer. They are based on an alleged prize fight which occurred at the camp of a Dayton party, near West Milton, Miami county, a few Sundays ago. It is claimed that the chief refused the fight, and for his alleged connection with the affair his deception is demanded. The whole affair is looked upon as the culmination of a bitter warfare which for months has been waged by the gamblers to secure the scalp of the chief, who has made it impossible for them to do a profitable business in this city.

Receiving Big Gifts.

DELAWARE, O., Aug. 29.—The Ohio

Wesleyan university of this city has received of Mr. M. J. Cramer of Virginia, a gift of his library, consisting of 5,000 volumes. The donor is a nephew of General Grant and was minister to Switzerland under his administration.

The Ohio Wesleyan university have favorably considered the proposition made by Dr. C. E. Slocum of Defiance, who proposes to build a $50,000 fireproof

library building on the campus the coming year, providing the trustees will support it.

Three Counties Settle.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 29.—The following counties have made their settlements

with the state for June tax collections:

Hancock—Taxes, $26,434.83; for schools,

$9,591.08; received back for schools, $9,

182.25; cigarette tax, $59.53. Van

Wert—Taxes, $1,647.14; for schools,

$1,201.39; received back for schools, $1,

433.35; cigarette tax, $2,355. Shelby

Taxes, $14,763.43; for schools, $5,356.34;

received back for schools, $5,808.75;

cigarette tax, $7.50.

The W. C. T. U. Convention.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 29.—The date for the forthcoming convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance union, to be held in this city, has been set for Friday, Nov. 16, and the five preceding days. There will be three sessions each day, those of the morning

GEN. MILES DENIES IT.

He Did Not Consult With Chicago Railroad Managers.

DIDN'T FORCE STRIKERS TO WORK.

At Least, He Issued No Orders to That

Effect—Vice President Wickes Says

There Have Been No Orders to Evict

Fullman Tenants.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—General Nelson

A. Miles appeared before the government strike commission and denied the story that, on his arrival here from Washington, he had at once consulted with the general managers. On July 2, when this conference was said to have taken place, he was in Washington, and he arrived here on July 4. Asked if it was true that he had declared he had broken

the backbone of the strike, the general said this was not quite exact. What he said was that he had broken the backbone of the opposition to the federal

FROM THE RANKS.

BY CAPT. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1894, by THE J. B. LIPPINCOTT CO.

Sitting alone under the trees, he had taken a sheet of paper from his pocket and was writing by the light of the rising moon. One letter was short and easily written, for, with a few words, he had brought it to a close, then folded it in a bold and vigorous hand and pressed it. The other was far longer, and over this one, thinking deeply, erasing some words and pondering much over others, he spent a long hour. It was nearly midnight, and he was chilled to the heart when he stifferly rose and took his way among the blanketed groups to the campfire, around which so many of his wearied comrades were sleeping the sleep of the tired soldier. Here he tore to fragments and scattered in the embers some notes and letters that were in his pockets. They blazed up brightly, and by the glare he stood up, looking at the flames. Then he looked around on the unconscious circle of bearded and bearded faces. There were many types of soldier there—men who had led brigades through the great war and gone back to the humble bars of the line officer at its close; men who had been charged against the swarming Indians in the rough old days of the first prairie railways; men who had won distinction and honorable mention in hard and trying frontier service; men who had their faults and foibles and weaknesses like other men and were aggressive or compliant, strong willed or yielding, overbearing or meek, as are their brethren in other walks of life; men who were simple in heart, simple in purpose and ambition, diverse in characteristics, but unanimous in one trait—no meanness could live among them—and Jerrold's heart sank within him, colder, lower, stonier than before, as he looked from face to face and cast up mentally the sum of each man's character.

His hospitality had been boundless, his bounty lavish; one and all they had eaten of his loaf and drunk of his cup, but was there among them one who could say of him, "He is generous, and I stand his friend?" Was there one of them, one of theirs, for whom he had ever denied himself a pleasure, great or small? He looked at poor old Gray, with his wrinkled, anxious face, and thought of his distress of mind. Only a few thousands—not three years' pay—had the veteran scraped and saved and stored away for his little girl, whose heart was aching with its first cruel sorrow—his work, his undoing, his curse, selfish greed for adulation, his reckless love of love. The morrow's battle, if it came, might leave her orphaned and alone, and poor as it was, a father's pitying sympathy could not be her help with the coming year. Would Gray mourn him if the fortune of war made him the victim? Would any one of those averted faces look with pity and regret upon his stiffening form? Would there be any one on earth to whom his death would be a sorrow but Nina? Would it even be a blow to her? She loved him wildly, he knew that; but would she were she to dream the truth? He knew her nature well. He knew how quickly such burning love could turn to fiercest hate when convinced that the object was utterly untrue. He had said nothing to her of the photograph, nothing at all of Alice, except to protest time and again that his attentions to her were solely to win the good will of the colonel's family and of the colonel himself, so that he might be proof against the machinations of his foes. And yet had he not that very night on which he crossed the stream and let her peril her name and honor for a stolen interview—had he not gone to her exultant welcome with a traitorous knowledge gnawing at his heart? That very night, before they parted at the colonel's door, had he not lied to Alice Renwick, had he not deceived the story of his devotion to Miss Beauchien, and was not his practiced eye watching eagerly the beautiful dark face for one sign that the news was welcome and so precipitate the avowed trembling on his lips that it was her he madly loved—not Nina? Though she hurriedly bade him good night, though she was unprepared for any such announcement, he well knew that Alice Renwick's heart fluttered at the earnestness of his manner, and that he had indicated far more than he had said.

Fear, not love, had drawn him to Nina Beauchien that night, and hope had centered on her more beautiful rival when the discoveries of the night involved him in the first trembling symptoms of the downfall to come. And he was to have spent the morning with her, the woman to whom he had lied in word, while she to whom he had lied in word and deed was going from him, not to return until the German, and even then he planned treachery. He meant to lead with Alice Renwick and claim that it must be with the colonel's daughter because the ladies of the garrison were the givers. Then he knew Nina would not come at all and that ground. What could have been an easier solution of his troublesome predicament? She would break her secret engagement; he would refuse all reconciliation and be free to devote himself to Alice. But all these grave complications had arisen. Alice would not come. Nina wrote demanding that he should lead with her, and that he should meet her at St. Croix, and then came the crash. He owed his safety to her self give me. I would rather know you were not Sergeant McLeod than any fact you could tell. Speak low, man, but tell me here and now. Whatever motive you may have had for this disguise, whatever anger or sorrows in the past, you must sink them now to save the honor of the woman your madness has perilled. Answer me, for your sister's sake. Are you not Fred Renwick?" "Do you swear to me she is in danger?" "By all that's sacred, and you ought to know it." "I am Fred Renwick. Now what can I do?"

THE K. OF P. PARADE.

President Cleveland Reviews It—Condition of the Order.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The feature of the Pythian encampment was the grand parade of the uniform rank. Fifteen thousand knights were in line, marching by state brigades, and the procession was more than two hours passing the presidential reviewing stand. Pennsylvania avenue was crowded with more than 100,000 people, a large proportion of them visitors from out of the city. The president reviewed the procession from a small stand erected on the curbing just in front of the White House.

Major General Canham reviewed the line near the treasury department on its return march.

The convulse of the supreme lodge is holding a secret session, as the Pythian sisterhood.

The report of the supreme chancellor, W. W. Blackwell, Knights of Pythias, will attract wide attention, both inside and outside the order, especially for the vigorous manner in which he deals with questions rising from what he terms an organized rebellion of certain persons who have persisted in publishing and using a German translation of the ritual in despite of the refusal of the supreme lodge to permit such translations. He gives the following as the statistics of membership according to unofficial reports to July 1, 1894: Grand lodges, 54; subordinate lodges, 6,362; total number of members, 465,741, a net increase of 72,025 members during the past two years. The financial condition is most satisfactory. The order universally is in a most prosperous condition, and the times are propitious for a much greater increase during the next two years than ever before in its history.

A Bloody Dispensary Fight.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 29.—A bloody tragedy has been enacted at Blackville whereby Solomon Brown and John Gribben, a dispensary constable, were killed. The double killing was the result of an old feud between Gribben and the influential Brown family. Gribben went to the depot and opened a case of drygoods consigned to Solomon Brown ostensibly for the purpose of seizing contraband whisky, which led to the fight.

Work at the Lehigh Valley Shops.

EASTON, Pa., Aug. 29.—The Lehigh Valley Railroad company, which is in need of passenger cars, recently asked for bids for 25 coaches. Several car building companies presented estimates, but the company found that it could build more satisfactory cars at its South Easton shops and accordingly the entire order has been placed there. This insures steady work and full time to over 150 of the shop hands. It is possible that the force will be increased.

Novelist Howells' Father Dead.

JEFFERSON, O., Aug. 29.—Hon. W. C. Howells has died of paralysis in his 84th year. He was a newspaper man from 1850 until 1877, when he was appointed by President Grant United States consul to Quebec, where he served four years and five years at Toronto. He served in the Ohio State senate in 1864-65. He leaves four sons and two daughters. His son, W. D. Howells, was with him at the last.

His Head Cut Off.

READING, Pa., Aug. 29.—Michael Peid-leiner, an 8-year-old boy, while picking coal on the tracks of the Reading railroad, near South street, got under a moving coal train. The wheels passed over him and cut off his head.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Michael Miller, of 139 Basil avenue, is confined to his home with an attack of fever.

Improvements are being made about A. S. Wallace's building, on lower Broadway.

The doctors' association will meet tonight and discuss several matters of importance.

Miss Blanche Johnson, of Basil avenue, is seriously ill with congestion of the brain.

Mrs. Charles McGovern is lying at the point of death at her home in West End with lung trouble.

F. M. Edgell has shipped his household goods from Long Reach to this city and will reside here with his family.

Many traveling salesmen who have been missing this city because of the hard times are again coming here regularly.

A case of scarlet fever was reported in the East End yesterday. There are no other contagious diseases now in the city.

A large number of persons attended the party of the Wellsville dancing society last night. This city was not represented in great numbers.

The patrol made a run to the foot of Union street last night but got nothing. The alarm had been sent in because some small boys were raising a disturbance, and they quickly disappeared.

The finishing touches on the arrangements for Labor Day will be added at the meeting of trades council this evening. All committees will be present, the reports will be made, and all things done to insure the success of the enterprise. A full meeting is expected as there is much to be done.

L. F. Scheede, manager of the Turner baseball club, states that "in the game with the Beaver Greys there was only one Turner, Grant Myler, and the club from here never played together before in their lives." Further than that the club had no authority to use the name of Turners and disgrace it as they did.

The Daughters of Rebekah are going to build a cottage in connection with the Odd Fellows home in Springfield, and as usual East Liverpool expects to be a prominent factor in the construction. The local organization have decided to contribute what they can, and will soon give a mammoth festival and apply the proceeds to this purpose.

Miss Lizzie Norris, a sister of Dr. N. T. Norris, of this city, sustained a severe fracture of the wrist while attending a meeting at Damascus, a short distance back of Wellsville Monday night. She was walking over a piece of ground and stepping into a depression fell backward. In the effort to break the fall the accident occurred. The injury is a bad one, the left wrist being dislocated.

E. M. Crosser is amusing his friends with private exhibitions of a number of Mexican beans which he recently received from Columbus. The beans are possessed with the peculiar trait of desiring to move and are constantly on the go, hopping about in a decidedly interesting manner. They grow in pods much after the manner of the chestnut, with the one peculiarity that only a single bean in each pod is a jumper.

W. E. Cooper versus Harrison Rinehart was a case tried before Squire Travis at the city hall yesterday afternoon. Rinehart was sued for feed to the amount of $27.50 and disputed only a part of the bill, $17 for corn, which he claimed he did not receive. The witnesses swore exactly opposite to one another and so twisted up affairs that the squire reserved his decision until today. This morning the squire decided that Rinehart should pay $22.20 of the bill.

It is related that a young man from this city attempted to elope with a Wellsville girl the other morning, but was prevented by a vigilant mother. All the arrangements were completed. The pair intended to slip into Pennsylvania on the early train this morning, have the knot tied in Beaver, and return this afternoon ready to be forgiven, yet in position to defy the mother if necessary. But a letter got into the old lady's hands, and the daughter was locked in her room while the lover stood shivering on the station platform waiting her appearance.

The case of L. C. Graves & Co., of Springboro, Pa., versus Joseph Walters was tried before Squire Travis and a jury composed of John Ryan, J. A. Norris, George Garner, W. C. Davidson, George Morley and James Vodrey at the city hall yesterday afternoon. The original amount asked was $53.50 but Walters had a counter claim of about $26.50 and after deciding only 20 minutes the jury decided that the plaintiff should be paid $26.25. Walters had offered to confess judgment for $27 previously but it was refused. The amount due was for buggies bought by the defendant.

PERSONAL MENTION.

—Doctors and Mrs. Jackman returned this afternoon from Blairsville, Pa.

—Doctor Crissler, of Shippingport, Pa., was in the city on business this morning.

—Elmer Gaston has returned home, after spending the vacation with friends in Toronto.

—Miss Alice Handler, of Erie, Pa., who has been the guest of friends here returned home yesterday evening.

—William Walters has returned to his home in Mansfield after spending several days with friends in this city.

—Miss Minnie Jobbling, who has been the guest of Mrs. Henry Reark, has returned to her home in Steubenville.

—DeWitt Irwin has returned from Ridgewood park, a pleasant summer resort in Pennsylvania where he spent a month.

—Mrs. T. A. Rogers, son Frank and daughter, Nellie, of Salineville, picnicked yesterday with Mrs. Phil Evans and family at Columbian park.

—Robert W. McGhie, of East Liverpool, formerly one of the leading farmers of Sugar Grove, was in the city today on legal business.—Steubenville Star.

—Mr. and Mrs. Southworth, superintendents of the Fairmount Children's home, near Alliance, have returned home after a visit with Hon. David Boyce and wife.

Joe Bratt Again.

The irrepressible Joe Bratt got away from the county infirmary the other day, and wandering across the country came to this city. Officers searched for him everywhere, but he could not be found. After a long hunt Joe was found at a late hour last night near the rolling mill in Wellsville. He was very drunk, and the captors decided to place him in the Wellsville jail until he could be returned to New Lisbon.

Preston Mackall Dead.

Preston Mackall a respected resident of the vicinity of Calcutta died at his home yesterday after an illness caused by Bright's disease. He was 49 years of age, and leaves a wife and daughter. The interment will be made at Long's Run cemetery tomorrow afternoon. Deceased was well and favorably known in this city, being related to the Plankinton brothers, and A. R. Mackall.

Kenneth Bazemore had the good fortune to receive a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy when three members of his family were sick with dysentery. This one small bottle cured them all and he had some left which he gave to Geo. W. Baker, a prominent merchant of the place, Lewistown, N. C., and it cured him of the same complaint. When troubled with dysentery, diarrhoea, colic or cholera morbus, give this remedy a trial and you will be more than pleased with the result. The praise that naturally follows its introduction and use has made it very popular. 25 and 50 cents bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

A Contest For a Carpet.

The contest between Misses Alice Martin and Maud Carman for a carpet donated by the mission band of the Second Methodist Episcopal church, East End, ended Monday night and Miss Carman was declared the winner. She had collected $21 and her opponent secured $15. The net proceeds of the supper given by the band recently was about $20, and the treasury is now in splendid condition.

My boy was taken with a disease resembling bloody flux. The first thing I thought of was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy. I tried it and it settled the matter and cured him sound and well. I heartily recommend this remedy to all persons suffering from a like complaint. I will answer any inquiries regarding it when stamp is inclosed. I refer to any county official as to my reliability. Wm. Roach, J. P., Primory, Campbell Co., Tenn. For sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

Business and Enjoyment.

The Epworth League will meet tomorrow evening, and after transacting what business is before the society, the following program will be rendered:

Duet..... Emma Horwell and Florence Elkins
Piano Solo..... Thelma Walters
Recitation..... Nellie Hyett
Vocal Solo..... Linda Tarr
Piano Solo..... Nellie Croxall
Recitation..... Claude Gill
Duet..... Nellie Hyett and Daisy McIntire

"I know an old soldier who had chronic diarrhoea of long standing to have been permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy," says Edward Humphrik, a prominent druggist of Minneapolis, Minn. "I have sold the remedy in this city for over seven years and consider it superior to any other medicine now on the market for bowel complaints." 25 and 50 cent bottles of this remedy for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

What Cochran Says.

Dan Cochran says he wants it understood that he had plenty of money while he was in jail, but he didn't propose to pay it to "no such" people as those at the city hall.

The Teachers Meet.

Columbiana county teachers are in session at Columbiana, and they own the town. Competent instructors have been secured, and the meeting promises to be one of the best ever held in the county. They were formally welcomed to the place by a reception and social, and have been at work since yesterday morning.

Monthly Convention.

At the regular business meeting of the Young People's Social Christian Endeavor, of the Christian church, last evening, a pleasing program was rendered. The papers on the work of the various committees were exceptionally good and the music was enjoyed by all. These conventions are to be continued monthly.

Alex McDonald Dead.

Alex McDonald, a well known resident of Wellsville, died at his home yesterday morning, leaving a large family. He was a brother of Mrs. Hamill, West End, this city, who attended the funeral today. The remains were taken to Pittsburg for interment.

Initiated One.

Favorite Tent, Rechabites, initiated a candidate and received four applications for membership. There were present at the meeting Messrs. A. T. Heath, recently of Lincoln, Nebraska, and George Rabbitt, of Akron. An interesting session was held.

Rechabite Glee Club.

The Rechabite Glee club, composed of about 19 members will meet for their first lesson on Friday night. Robert Sellers has taken the position of teacher and the club expects to do some good work soon. They meet in Rechabite hall.

Where Milk Freezes in the Milking.

William H. Hart of 1317 Walnut street, who has traveled in nearly every country of the world, says that he nowhere experienced such extreme cold as in the interior of Labrador. To illustrate the fearful frigidity to minds accustomed to Philadelphia's mild temperature Mr. Hart says that before milking the reindeer the milkmaid places a piece of string in the pail, allowing one end to hang over the side. By the time the milking is finished, Mr. Hart avers, the lactical fluid is frozen solid, and the maid takes hold of the string and lifting the frozen milk from the pail throws it over her shoulder and marches to her hut. Economy of pails and easy transportation result from this provision of nature.—Philadelphia Record.

How Spiders Work.

Mr. H. H. Dixon has been studying the locomotion of insects and spiders by means of instantaneous photographs. He finds that the limbs move together in diagonals. In insects the first and third legs on one side move with the second on the other, the antennae moving with the first leg on the same side. In the case of spiders, which have eight legs, the first and third on one side move with the second and fourth on the other.—Nature.

Too Natural.

Playwright—Is her acting natural? Manager (enthusiastically)—Natural! Why, when she appeared as the dying mother last night, an insurance agent who has her life insured for $20,000 and who was in the audience actually fainted.—Pearson's Weekly.
